FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

LDSI COMPLETES $7 MILLION GROWTH-CAPITAL FUNDING WITH PARTNERS FOR GROWTH

LDSI to Expand Global Reach with New Full-Service Operations in Europe, United States and Austral-Asia

London, England and San Francisco, CA 17 October 2007 – London-based Legal Document Services International, (LDSI) the world's first cohesive international provider of a complete range of forensically-sound legal document services, and San Francisco-based Partners for Growth, (PfG) financial partner to leading emerging-growth technology companies, today announced completion of a dynamic funding facility in support of LDSI's continued worldwide expansion. The $7 million revolving-credit facility will be used to fund new state-of-the-art legal service hubs in Brussels, Los Angeles, Sydney and Washington, D.C. LDSI currently operate full-service electronic and paper processing centers in London and New York.

Global Reach, Local Touch

Legal matters have become substantially more complex, crossing borders, languages and technology platforms. Corporations and their counsel often must navigate increasingly hostile and often conflicting, unique local issues – both legal and technical. Issues resolved one way in one country often don't work in another. Working with multiple legal document vendors on a global matter weakens legal accountability and service efficiency. And it costs more.

LDSI have built the world's most forensically-sound infrastructure for collecting, processing and hosting corporate data material to litigation, investigations and corporate transactions – securely and cohesively, around the world.

Larry Morris, Chairman & CEO of LDSI commented: “From the very first sketches of the LDSI blueprint, we have pursued one goal – to be the world's first truly-cohesive international provider of a complete range of legal document services. The company's rapid growth around the world put us in search of a dynamic partner who understood our business, was unique in their approach and personality and would provide the added fuel our expanding enterprise required. We found that and more with Partners for Growth. PfG's strong track record, their experience working with leading technology companies around the world, their ongoing guidance as the company embarks upon major territorial expansion, made their team the perfect partners for growth”.

Andrew Kahn, a General Partner of Partners for Growth continued, “PfG is very excited about financing one of the leading global players in the electronic discovery and legal processing arenas. As corporations generate and store ever-increasing volumes of digitally-produced information, the technical and legal complexities of collecting, harvesting and producing this information when required, often leads these companies and their legal counsel to turn to leading specialists. PfG were impressed by LDSI's global offering. The financing will help LDSI to expand its reach throughout Asia, Europe and the United States”.

Through full-service operations in the United States, United Kingdom, Europe and Austral-Asia, LDSI provides a complete range of legal document services. Core offerings include consulting, data recovery; electronic discovery; project management; software, hosting and review platforms; staffing, training and skills certification for litigation technology professionals.
